DEATH OF PETER C. CAPDEPON.

Well-known Bay St. Louis Resident Passed Away Sunday Morning at An Early Hour After Brief Illness at His Home in St. John St.

Peter C. Capdepon, well-known Bay St. Louis resident, passed away at 3 o'clock Sunday morning. Born January 10th, 1869, aged 56 years. He was and had been for quite a number of years tender of the L. & N. drawbridge over the bay in front of the city. Saturday morning about 10 o'clock, he was taken suddenly ill, the victim of a stroke of apoplexy. He lost consciousness and was taken to his home in St. John street. Physicians were immediately summoned and while all that medical science could do was exerted, he never regained consciousness, but his condition grew worse and began sinking until the following morning at the time of his death.

The funeral took place Sunday evening from the late residence in St. John street at 6 o'clock with the ceremony of the Catholic church, interment at Saint Mary's cemetery. Well-known and connected the funeral was largely attended, notwithstanding the inclement weather. The deceased is survived by his widow and seven children. These are four sons, Leon, Henry, Charles, August; three daughters, Mrs. Fred Anderson, Mrs. W. Burton, and Miss Vera Capdepon. The deceased was also a brother of Ex-Mayor Lee Capdepon and Mrs. Fred Banderet. The bereaved family have the sympathy of a large circle of friends and acquaintances here and elsewhere testified the esteem and high regard in which the deceased was held by the many friends.

BIG SALE AT THE BAY MERCANTILE COMPANY'S BIG STORE

Beginning Next Monday Morning at Eight O'clock Slaughter of Pigs Will Take Effect—To Continue for Sixty Days.

No necessity of calling attention to the full page advertisement of the Bay Mercantile Company. The store, owned, which appears on page three of this issue of the Echo, but it will be well to remember the date and take advantage of the slaughter of pigs which is being conducted by the company.

The sale, which includes all lines of goods continues as long as necessary within sixty days, beginning on Monday morning, at 8 o'clock, and will be noted that the standard prices on all goods have been marked down. It is easily a case of the best goods for the least money. Mr. Osoinach has been in business in this city for over twenty-five years and his reputation for honest values and fair dealing is unquestioned. This gigantic sale, which goes on Monday, and slaughter of pigs will offer an unusual opportunity to replenish one's wardrobe, replenish the household or anything one may need to furnish or renew. A word to the wise is sufficient. Read the advertisement and profit thereby. Save it for reference.

MRS. CAROLINE CROMMLER

Death of Former Bay St. Louis Resident. Occurred at Port Arthur, Texas. Remains Interred in Bay St. Louis.

Mrs. Caroline Crommler, well-known Bay St. Louis resident, where she was loved and highly esteemed by many, died last Saturday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Joseph Forest Bangard, at Port Arthur, Texas, where she resided. She was 69 years of age, a native of New Orleans.

Mrs. Crommler was suddenly seized with a stroke on Wednesday before she died. She rallied and was thought to be on the high road to recovery, when Saturday afternoon, she again took her bed and her spirit gently took its flight. In fact, it was while asleep that she died.

Having always expressed the desire to be buried in Bay St. Louis and according to her wish, the remains were taken to Bay St. Louis and placed in the cemetery. The funeral took place on the arrival of train No. 4, from New Orleans, and was largely attended.

Accompanying the body were Mr. and Mrs. Forest Bangard, Port Arthur, Texas; another daughter, Mrs. L. M. Butts, of Bayou La Poudre, La.; and a son, William Crommler, and his wife of New Orleans, and also another daughter, Mrs. J. S. Smith, and daughter, Dora. Mr. Clarence Ehrhardt, a grandson of New Orleans, Mr. Murray Bangard received the party who left for their respective homes the same evening.

The news of the death of Mrs. Crommler was received with much sorrow. She had lived here a number of years, and during the period of her residence had formed quite a circle of friends and acquaintances, and she will be remembered by many who still reside here.

Mrs. Crommler was the head of a large and devoted family. She lived in the very bosom of her children and grandchildren, and her death has caused a void that can never be filled. These have the sympathy of all who know them. The many floral offerings from here and away were made to express an eloquent tribute of the high esteem and love in which the deceased was held by the many who knew her.

The figure 8 frowns on old-fashioned washday methods. For it is the magic figure in the 1900 Cataract Electric Washer which does the water back and forth through the clothes, in a perfect figure 8 motion four times faster than in the ordinary washer.

The swinging wringer is reversible, and also works electrically. The copper tub hasn't one single part in it—nothing to lift out and clean after the wash is finished.

MILK ESSENTIAL FOR STOCK

Want Good Results? Feed Milk

Calves No Substitute Will Take

Place of Milk

Prepared by the Illinois State

Department of Agriculture

"You cannot starve a young animal as to check its growth, and still get good results." This comment by a Missouri farmer on the problem of preventing rustiness in live stock is in accord with the experience of several hundred other live stock owners who have contributed their experience to the United States Department of Agriculture's study of this subject.

"Starvation," he adds, "cannot be the robbery of the weak by stronger animals, improper and inadequate feeding, indigestion caused by careless feeding, unclean troughs, pails, and swill barrels—all of these things cause much of the trouble in farmer's experiences, especially in their hog lots."

In discussing the importance of milk as an essential food both for live stock and people, he remarks that while good pasture is very essential in the growth of calves, for real calves no substitute will take the place of fresh cows' milk. "From my own experience," he states, "I know that no young animal will recover from retarded or stunted growth. As a child

I was normal in size and my parents were of strong, sturdy, Scotch stock.

When, some years ago, my parents settled as pioneers in Iowa, meat was a luxury, and milk and butter were unobtainable, at least for the first year.

At the end of the year we got a cow and chickens, so our living conditions improved." He adds that malaria followed, and, although he outgrew the effects of the disease, he "never gained the physical strength, weight, or development of bone and muscle" that he should have had. "My normal weight," he says, "has been about 120 pounds, and still my health has been the best since I got the 'shakes.' Keep your young animals growing."

PRODUCTION OF GOOD HORSES

Increases in Number of Draft Animals

Held to Be Great Need, Says

Wayne Dismore

Horse dealers feel that the horse is "coming back." According to information gathered by the Horse Association of America and transmitted to J. R. Kistler, of university farm, rec-retary of the Minnesota Horse Breeders' association, more draft horses are now being sold for city use than for many years past. Increased production of good horses is held to be a great need at present. Wayne Dismore, an authority well known in horse circles, says: "You can safely assure the farmers of a better market for their surplus animals."

HIGH SILLS CAUSE OF LOSS

Nebraska Breeder Finds That Little

Pigs Are Unable to Follow

Sows Into Pens

Many pigs are lost and others are stunted in growth as the result of ex-posure because of high sills in front of pens. This is the observation of a Nebraska swine grower in a letter to the United States Department of Agriculture on the cause of runt live stock. He urges that stockmen examine their equipment, and be certain that small pigs are able to follow the sows into the pens. Attention to balanced ration, sanitation, and pure value are likewise mentioned as methods of preventing runs.

BENEFIT OF STABLE MANURE

It Should Be Balanced With Acid

Phosphates, Which Is Comparatively Inexpensive

Manure contains humus in plenty and all the necessary plant materials, as well as bacteria, which are the most valuable of the most valuable of crops. It is the full benefit of stable manure, however, if it should be balanced with acid phosphates, which is comparatively inexpensive.

May I Help?

thinking of all the things which make us want to be thankful.

"Of course we can't always say our thanks, but even then we can feel gratitude or thanks.

"We can't very well say thank you to the sun for shining or to the rain for coming when the ground is dry and needs a cooling drink. We can't very well say thank you to the flowers which come out in the spring and in the summer. We can't very well say thank you to the stars for blinking and twinkling and smiling at creatures by night.

"The stars are too far away and so is the sun and so are the rain clouds.

"But, just the same, we can feel thanks and feel gratitude. So you see I feel a great deal of gratitude and thanks to my good friends who are helping me. And I say so to both of you."

Then the Beetles grinned in their Beetle fashion and crawled off to ask the other Black Beetles to come to Mr.

Black Beetle's party.

All the Beetles came, and there were many, many Black Beetles at the party. Mr. Benjamin Beetle and Mr.

Billy Beetle also belonged to the Black Beetle family, and they were very much excited over the party.

"The guests all had an extremely good time. They played games, they climbed on each other's backs and had a very Beetle frolic.

"They had good things to eat and some of them sang little songs, very funny little songs, squealing songs, which they all thought were very lovely."

"There are some creatures," said Mr. Black Beetle, "who think that the blue lake yonder, which is surrounded by these blue hills, is the loveliest sight in the world, and others think the shadows which play over the lake are the loveliest, but to my Beetle mind there is nothing like a gathering of Black Beetles. That is my believed to be right."

"The Black Beetles agreed as they could.
